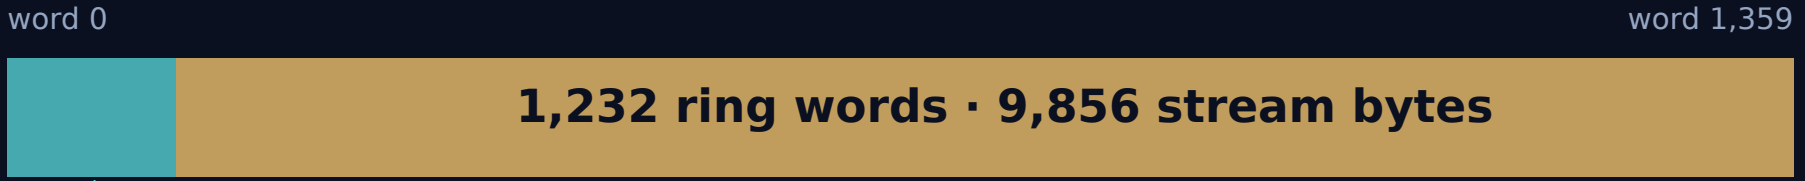
One memory serves pixels and the compressed stream



Separate registers hold pending words, coefficient live ranges and the active output word.